

Following the amazing growth of the organic market in Italy and abroad, in 2012 Casa Rinaldi decides to diversify its offering by opening a bio division with the new Biologicoils brand dedicated solely to organic products. Again the offer of the new Biotuscany division is rich and in continuous expansion: everything always made with the same care and the same attention to quality and tradition, features which have characterized the history of Casa Rinaldi.

---